Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Just when the entire country is admonished by the President to prepare for making personal sacrifices in order to the further our national defense, the Wages & Hours act administrator maintains his steady pressure to reduce the hours of labor, or hike the wages of the worker. There never has been anything during the past eight years like the jewel of consistency in our domestic policy. But probably the most "de trop" of all the many reforms at this moment of world crisis is the operation of the Wagner and the Wages and Hours laws. Administrators of these two acts step into the hurly burly of war preparations with the colossal innocence of a butler intruding on a murder scene.

The Wages and Hours administrator has ruled that the mines of Nevada County are in interstate commerce, despite the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals that the gold mine owners of California, selling their product to the United States mint in San Francisco, are not engaged in interstate commerce. The United States Supreme Court refused to review this decision rendered in the case of the Idaho-Maryland mine, so the question is settled, at least until some other agency of the Federal Government begins action to carry the same contention through the courts to the Supreme Court.

But supposing the Wages and Hours administrator does again compel Nevada County mine owners to resist in courts his order ruling that they are engaged in interstate commerce, and appeals are finally carried to the Supreme Court, will that court again refuse to review decisions made in the lower Federal courts? Nobody can say, of course, but we do know that the complexion of the Supreme Court is far different than it was three years ago. It is, to all practical purposes, a New Deal court, and the sole remaining old timer on it, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, a middle-of-the-road liberal, it is now reported will resign his post at the end of June. There is more than a fifty-fifty chance that if this question of whether or not gold mining companies of California are engaged in interstate commerce, rises again, the Supreme court will review the issue this time, and find in favor of the Wages and Hours administrator. If that should happen, all the fat would be in fire, for once declared in interstate commerce, the mine owners would be subject to all the laws governing that status.

But, as one prominent mine manager points out, the Federal government may not wish to go to all the trouble of carrying the contention of one bureau all the way to the Supreme Court. There is a short cut. The government is the only customer for gold. The Mint Master in Washington merely has to order California gold producers to deliver their gold to the Denver mint, and then there would be no further question of the mine owners being in interstate commerce. While the several departments and many bureaus of the government often carry on deadly feuds among themselves, in so far as zealous exercise of powers conferred upon them are concerned, they work together with machine like precision to exercise the powers conferred upon them. Department of Justice lends itself to bureaucratic purposes, for instance in the consent decrees that have become a notorious feature of New Deal rule. In the past few years many a corporation "swearing it never would consent, consented." On the face of it, it looks as though a very simple expedient of the Federal government, would be to order gold deliveries of the various producing states, delivered to some mint outside the state where produced. A lot of litigation would thereby be by-passed.

Dream Coming True For Dr. Carl P. Jones

Physician Has Worked In Crowded Hospital For Years

By ELMER STEVENS

The dream of Dr. Carl Power Jones throughout the more than 35 years he has served as a physician in this mining area will come true this summer when the new $450,000 Grass Valley Memorial hospital is opened. During the decades he has treated countless numbers of miners and their families his goal has been one day to head one of the country's most modern and finely equipped hospitals in his native city.

The new hospital building on a high hill, overlooking the pine clad countryside near here is being constructed at a cost of $450,000. Many more thousands of dollars are being invested in the best surgical and medical equipment that can be bought.

Situated on a knoll, at an elevation of 2800 feet in the middle of a 150 acre pear and apple orchard, the structure is a departure from conventional hospital construction, in as much as it is composed entirely of steel and glass.

Ultra Modern Design

It is designed with spread wings and individual sun porches to permit the maximum of light in patient's rooms. The initial capacity will be 124 beds, with the rooms designed to accommodate two beds, as needed.

Convalescent as well as ornamental gardens are included in the land scaping scheme to provide recreational facilities for patients. A private golf course for convalescents and visitors will adjoin the hospital property.

For years, Dr. Jones has worked in a crowded hospital which once was a pioneer home, converted into the Jones Memorial Hospital in honor of his father, the late Dr. William C. Jones.

Father Was Pioneer

Dr. William C. Jones left his native state of Tennessee in 1865 to settle in a log cabin at Moore's Flat, Nevada county. Here he read medicine, became fascinated with the subject and finally attended the old Cooper Medical school in San Francisco, which had just opened its doors.

He did graduate work in New York and returned to Nevada county to become a staff surgeon for the Central Pacific railroad, then being built across the Sierra. He was stationed first at Cisco, then at Truckee.

With completion of the railroad, Dr. Jones turned to private practice in Grass Valley, where Dr. Carl Jones and his brothers, Willliam, John and George, were born. All the brothers became doctors, except George. The latter, a lawyer, became district attorney, and now is superior judge of Nevada County.

Brothers Carry On

The brothers carried on their father's work in the old mansion remodeled as a hospital. After the deaths of William and John, Dr. Carl continued working—caring for the people of the community, winning friends, performing miraculous operations, becoming famous in the medical profession.

A few years ago he collaborated in perfection of the famous Jones-Paynter splint, which was an innovation in the treating of broken bones.

One of the friends he won was Errol MacBoyle, a mining man. MacBoyle reopened the long closed old Idaho Maryland mine, and made it one of the biggest gold producers of the west.

Dream Is Realized

Great was MacBoyle's admiration of the heroic work of Dr. Carl Jones among the miners. Together, Dr. Jones and MacBoyle organized the Grass Valley Memorial Hospital association. Through the association, Dr. Jones' dream is at last to be realized.

Architect of the new hospital is Walter C. Clifford. It will be ready for occupancy by mid summer.—Sacramento Union.

Fire In Neighborhood Gives Journalism Student Chance For Practical Experience

(Editor's Note — Miriam Crandall of Willow Valley, who has been taking a correspondence school course in journalism, had a story practically dumped in her own "back yard" Tuesday. And Mrs. Crandall was quick to take advantage of it. She wrote the following which The Nugget is happy to print under her by-line. Its Mrs. Crandall's first published article.)

(By MIRIAM CRANDALL)

Fire caused unestimated damage at the John McQuay home in Willow Valley Tuesday morning. Prompt action on the part of alert Nevada City firemen swiftly quenched the blaze.

It is believed that the loss of household goods is slight and according to Mrs. McQuay the damage to the roof and interior of the house is covered by insurance.

Starting in a trash-burner in the kitchen the fire burned through a wall into a closet and up into the attic. Mrs. McQuay and her daughters succeeded in putting out the fire in the kitchen but it had made rapid progress before the fire trucks arrived. Firemen removed shingles from a large section of the roof and tuurned water full force into the smoke and flame filled attic.

Belongings of Mrs. Harold Blodgett, a daughter who is visiting the McQuays, were slightly damaged by smoke and water.

VITAMINS IS ROTARY TOPIC

Dr. Bernard Hummelt gave an interetsing description of the vitamins in an address before the Rotary Club at luncheon today. The vitamins discussed were A, B1, B2 and B6, C and D.

Vitamins, the doctor stated, are more known for the diseases caused by their deficiency in the human system than in any other way. The absence of vitamin A, for instance, causes night blindness. Some of the traffic accidents have been found to be due to insufficient vitamin A as it affects the eyes of drivers. The vitamin is soluble in fats and is found in butter, cream, milk and the leafy vegetables.

When there is an insufficient supply of B1, pelegra results, and this has been one of the most wide spread of diseases. An insfficient supply of B2 results in polyneurosis, a cracked tongue, rash and dry skin. Vitamin B1 - B2 are derived from fresh vegetables, cod liver or fish liver oils. Vitamin B6 when deficient is indicated by trembling of the hands and a nervous condition. Foods rich in these vitamins are found in all dairy products, lean meats and fresh vegetables. Scurvy a disease which for centuries has afflicted sailors is due to a deficiency of vitamin C. Juice from all citrus fruits very quickly cures the disease. The British navy for three hundred years has insisted on its sailors being suplied with lime juice to balance their ship's diet.

Vitamin D is necessary to prevent rickets, especially in children. Here again fish liver oils prove to be one of the richest sources of vitamin D. Nicotinic acid in small doses is especially effective in curing pelegra.

The doctor displayed pictures of rats, guinea pigs and other small rodents, taken to illustrate the before and after treatment of feeding various vitamins.

Miner Completes Shift; Sets Pick Down, Then Topples Over In Death

EFFORTS OF FELLOW WORKERS TO REVIVE LAURI HENTILA ON 1750 FOOT LEVEL UNSUCCESSFUL

Lauri Hentila, 41, shift boss at the Zeibright Mine in Bear Valley, dropped dead on the 1750 foot level of the mine early today while waiting to be hoisted to the surface following the completion of the night's work.

Coroner A. M. Holmes said it was apparent Hentila died of a heart ailment. Dr. W. W. Reed, who accompanied Coroner Holmes to the mine after the latter was informed of the death, will perform an autopsy.

Holmes said Hentila, boss of the shaft crew on the night shift, had just set his pick down when he toppled over dead. Fellow workers attempted to revive him but to no avail.

Hentila had not complained of being ill. The deceased, who had resided at the Zeibright Mine with his wife since August, 1938, was a native of Diamondville, Wyoming. He was born on March 20, 1900. The body is at the Holmes Funeral Home in this city.

Episcopalian Convention Delegates Pleased With Their Reception In N. C.

CITIZENS OF CITY COOPERATE IN MAKING VISIT OF EPISCOPALIANS ENJOYABLE ONE

Approximately 150 clergy of the Episcopal Church, Sacramento Diocese, and lay delegates, left this city last night at the conclusion of a two day convention, loud in their praise for the reception given them in Nevada City and the beauty of the town.

The citizens of the community cooperated whole heartedly with Rev. H. Thomas Pateman and Episcopalians in this city in making the convention delegates visit here an enjoyable one.

The conclave, held annually, opened with registration and nomination of committee candidates Tuesday afternoon. In the evening a banquet was held at the National Hotel, at which 150 were present. A welcoming address was given by Mayor Benjamin Hall, followed by a speech of welcome by Rev. Pateman.

Rt. Rev. W. P. Remington, D. D., Bishop of Eastern Oregon, and Rt. Rev. Noel Porter, D. D., Bishop of Sacramento Diocese, were speakers at the banquet.

Yesterday's public service at the Trinity Church was impressive. The local high school chorus, directed by Mrs. Marian Libbey, participated in the program.

The service was followed by separate meetings of the male and women delegates. The election of the various committees were held. Rev. Pateman was elected an alternate delegate to attend the Synod in Portland, Ore., May 13th to 16th. Mrs. Elizabeth Pateman, wife of the local rector, was elected a delegate by the women's division.

In the afternoon a joint session was held at Trinity Church. Bishop Porter presided. The transaction of business included the unanimous adoption of a resolution to divide the Sacramento Diocese into three convocations, Sonoma, Sutter and Shasta. Nevada City will be in the Sutter convocation.

Following the business meetings, tea was served at the lawn of Trinity Church. Mrs. Paul Kemper and her entertainment committee conducted many of the visitors on a tour of the beautiful and historic spots of the city during the convention.

War on Two Fronts

The Battle of the Balkans rages on land, on sea and in the air, with fearful toll being taken of the brave little nations which chose to die for liberty, if need be, rather than live in bondage. Streets of Belgrade, the bomb-smashed Yugo-Slav capital, are piled high with the bodies of dead women, children and old men. Captured Salonika has become a base of operations for Hitler's legions. The Nazi bliztkrieg has rolled over great areas of both Greece and Yugo-Slavia and tens of thousands have been maimed and killed, simply because they resisted the conqueror.

The final tide of battle, however, may not be known for many weeks, despite the fact that the Axis won the first advantage. There are many who believe that Hitler suffered his greatest defeat when he was forced to split his forces and make war on two fronts, even though he may win the actual combat in the Balkans. While war engulfs the Balkans, England is gaining valuable time to arm for the Battle of Britain. On the other hand, even the British bulldog can hardly stand another debacle such as that at Dunkirk. But it is equally true that if Hitler's war machine bogs down in Greece, and he is unable to win through to a clean-cut victory, it may be the beginning of the end for the Nazi warlord.

Irrespective of wether the war on two fronts turns out to be a disastrous military blunder for Herr Hitler, or a specacular triumph, battle-scarred Britain and the liberty-loving people of Yugo Slavia and Greece will probably achieve the victory in the final analysis. Men who fight for liberty may lose battles, but they seldom give up their cause. Conquerors die or meet defeat, but conquered people, in whom the love of liberty is strong, always rise again.—Contributed.

Return of Hydraulic Mining

Up on the San Juan Ridge, above the Upper Narrows of the Yuba River, history is being revived and dreams renewed. Gold, it is believed, is to come back to a place which has given up millions; "hydraulics" will shoot their discovering and uncovering streams into Nevada County soil .

Up on the San Juan Ridge, now, there has been built what mining men say is the largest dam ever constructed for the storage of hydraulic mining tailings. A half billion cubic yards of auiferous gravel wait in the hills for modern and safeguarded methods to discover the wealth concealed. It is predicted—though mining predictions may not always be taken too seriously—that $25,000,000 in gold will be washed out in the next two years.

Resumption of hydraulic mining rescues memories of a dramatic chapter in California's story. That sort of mining silted the Sacramento River and put end to the days when it was navigable way beyond our capital. It dumped deposits in San Francisco Bay and has been responsible for federal and state rivers and harbors bills. River beds were raised as much as 15 feet; farm areas were flooded; defensive and offensive organizations were formed. Strife, bloodshed, legislative battle, graft and charges of graft, preceded the day when laws were enacted to prohibit hydraulic mining unless suitable retaining dams were built to confined the debris.

Now, it seems, we have a suitable dam, erected by the federal government, which is storing gold at Fort Knox, at a cost of $4,000,000. It will trap the sluicings and permit men to get the gold without ruining the farms below.

To the story of California gold which started with Marshall in 1848, carried on with quartz gold discovery, hydraulics and dredging, we may be adding a new one, with the government helping that we may do better what we did recklessly in the earlier hydraulic days.—Oakland Tribune.

Keeping The Wolf At A Safe Distance

We walk among billions of dollars these days like Little Red Riding Hood in the forest, lost, bewildered, and frequently a little frightened. But surely the best solution when you are astray in the deep woods and have lost your bearings is to pause for a moment like the experienced woodsman and study the details of the situation. That's the first step in the direction of finding your way out into the open again.

The federal spending situation can be described with greater clarity than the actual program itself possesses. Here's the story in its main elements:

On the basis of the best estimates, during the coming fiscal year the national government will be spending about 22 billion dollars. Spending for military and naval purposes will be at the rate of more than a billion dollars a month, or 15 billions in all. Non-military spending will probably continue to rise, and will consume the other seven billion dollars.

Offsetting revenues, it is said, will be only about nine billion dollars. On this basis, non-military spending will asborb almost 80 per cent of federal revenues.

Thus the problem is posed. We have plumped for adequate defense, and the public is willing to pay for it. But coupled with this, the American people have the right to expect an almost hairshirt economy in the regular operations of government. Improved business conditions, a rising national income, should relieve some of the pressure of "emergency" spending, so roundly advocated in previous "bad times." More of federal devenues will be needed to help pay the big defense bill.

Little Red Riding Hood, the American public, can reasonably demand of her elected guardians, the congress and officials of our government, that the elementary safeguard of placing a rein on civil expenditures should be observed. If something of the sort is not done, the Big Bad Wolf of inflation and fiscal uncertainty is likely to put in his unwelcome appearance.—Contributed.

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

Work or fight!

Sternly, Uncle Sam enforced that hard boiled war time mandate back in 1917 and 1918.

During the first world conflict, the War Industries Board, convinced that certain skilled workmen could serve their country better in essential industries than in military service, asked that the drafting of such men be deferred. Uncle Sam acted promptly Certain classes of occupations were declared non-essential — and workers of draft age in such occupations were told either to find jobs in essential war industries or report to their draft boards. The order of the day was: work or fight!

Thus far, in 1941, no such command has been issued, but Uncle Sam, determined to get his "arsenal of democracy" into high gear production, is again taking steps to mobilize the nation's man power. By proclamation of President Roosevelt the week of May 4-10 has been designated as National Employment Week—under direction of the American Legion, cooperating with federal and state employment services. The purpose is two fold: 1—To help find jobs for unemployed workers and fit them for eployment; 2—To provide more skilled workmen for war industries.

In California, with the program under direction of former Lieut. Gov. Hatfield, chairman of the American Legion Employment Commission, and Oliver A. Barr, manager of the Employer Service Division of the State Department of Employment, attention will be focused during the special week on plans to get older workers back into regular employment and to give them 're-fresher training," if necessary, to fit them for jobs available.

Local boards of education throughout the state, with the financial aid of the federal government, are in position to offer three types of courses to assist unemployed workers; apprenticeship training; supplementary training for the man now employed who wants better employment, and "re-fresher" or pre-employment courses to fit older workers for specialized occupations.

Uncle Sam's new "work" order—even though it is not backed up by the stern "or fight" provision of the World War days — is having both economic and political repercussions. School boards are getting applications from thousands of workers who want training for skilled trades. In the legislature, make work bills, such as full crew acts and extra brakemen bills, have been placed in the same category with the depression's leaf raking WPA projects. And relief rolls are steadily dropping as tens of thousands of unemployed answer the nation's call for skilled workers.

Receives Appointment—

Fred Garrison, secretary of the Nevada City Rotary Club, has received notification of his appointment as a member of the election committee of the Sacramento Rotary conference.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN AT THE STATE CAPITOL

The past week was a strenuous one for your legislators, especially for the members of the lower house where the budget was under consideration and several other important matters were passed upon.

The reapportionment measure was passed in the lower house after a hard fight on the part of the San Francisco delegation against the bill which takes two assembly districts from that city and one from Alameda County. The measure finally passed the assembly by a vote of 54 to 24. The writer voted in favor of the bill believing that the population basis on which it was prepared was correct. San Francisco loses two assemblymen simply because under the new census they do not have the necessary population to retain them. Assemblymen representing the city by the Golden Gate endeavored to retain one seat but were out voted. Instead of nine assemblymen, the bay city will, under the new bill, have but seven while Alameda County instead of having seven will have six. Los Angeles County gains two seats for a total of 32 representatives in the lower house, and Kern County gains one. The sixth district of which this county is a part remains intact with a population of some 104,000. Congressman Englebright's district comprising 18 counties likewise remains intact. The measure now goes to the senate where San Francisco interests will continue their fight to retain at least one of the two districts the lower house took away from them.

Another important measure which passed the lower house last week was the Slater "model" anti-sabotage bill giving the state new and powerful legal weapons to protect defense industries from saboteurs and fifth columnists. The measure passed by the overwhelming vote of 67 to 3. The American Federation of Labor did not oppose the bill.

Speaking of labor, there are other measures however, which the labor unions are opposing. Senate Bill 877, the hot cargo and secondary boycott bill, is being bitterly fought by labor organizations. The measure declares unlawful hot cargo and secondary boycott. On the other hand the bill is favored by agriculture and other interests. This measure passed the senate and is now on the assembly daily file for consideration by the lower house.

Last week the lower house spent several days considering the budget bill. Attempts to restore cuts made by the assembly ways and means committee were all defeated. The budget bill was the first order of business this week and it is possible that if the opposing groups will get together some adjustments may be made in such departments as the Department of Agriculture. Attempts however to restore all cuts made by the committee in the various departments are being defeated. The ways and means committee cut from the budgets of the various departments numerous proposed new positions. Likewise teleghaph and telephone expenses were cut along with numerous new automobiles. The taxpayer simply cannot have economy and create new jobs and additional work for departments at the same time. There must be curtailment of expenses, if taxes are to be kept down. The writer did not support all of the cuts made by the committee and we believe that a few adjustments, which may be necessary, will be made.

Speaking of state budgets, here are a few for comparison: Under Richardson (1923-25) the budget was $131,049,000. Ten years ago under Rolph (1931-33) the budget was $248,510,000. The present budget as submitted by the administration totals $566,056,000. The 1941-43 budget is four times as large as the Richardson budget and is twice as large as the Rolph budget of ten years ago. California has grown during these years but the budget has increased far greater in proportion than has the population. This is largely due to the creation of many new bureaus and state agencies. Every time a law is passed which creates new duties for a state department, it means that new employees must be added as well increased appropriations for the expense of the department. The present legislature is going to go slow in the matter of increasing the work of any department and legislation of this type is being watched carefully.

number of hours a week in the mining industry will be to increase wages. For, most mine managers would prefer to do that rather than make the painful readjustment in working schedules in the mines. All time over 40 hours a week would cost the mine owners 50 per cent more. This would please the miners of course, and it might have the practical effect of keeping more miners on the job in gold mining districts, than would be the case otherwise. The temptation of higher wages is already drawing a considerable number of miners into the defense industries. Often they do not better themselves in any respect. They find living costs have advanced to a point, where their margin of cash in hand at the end of the month, is no greater than it is here in Nevada county where wages are not so high and living costs are comparatively low.

ONE SOUR NOTE...

but it's a great orchestra nevertheless

Even a great orchestra will make a musical mistake once in a while. And once in a while... out of the thousands of decent, law-abiding beer retailers in California... you'll come across one or two who operate disreputable establishments.

These "black sheep" retailers constitute a tiny minority. Yet they tend to drag down the good name of beer.

By arousing public indignation, such undesirable retailers endanger your right to enjoy good beer. They also endanger the benefits to the public that beer has made possible.

For example, in California beer has created 102,698 new jobs with an annual payroll of $90,386,601 and paid $2,186,489.99 in taxes last year.

The brewing industry wants "black sheep" retailers eliminated entirely. You can help us by patronizing only the reputable, legal places where beer is sold. And by reporting irregularities to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

SOUTHERN ACCENT PLENTIFUL AT GRASS VALLEY

With the arrival of twenty seven Carolinians last week, Grass Valley CCC camp now offers a complete assortment of accents from the far south. Twenty six of the newcomers are from North Carolina. The lone South Carolinan got a free trip across the contry because his home cow pasture ignored state boundaries and lapped into the northern state.

On hand to greet the new enrollees were one Alabaman, 4 Georgians, 56 boys from Louisiana, one from Mississippi and 101 from Tennessee.

If the Florida and California Chambers of Commerce were to induce their native sons to carry on the longstanding grudge fight while in the local camp, only two men would enter the ring. The battle would be enrollee leader William "Duke" Roe, Grass Valley, versus (but it can't happen here) Lt. Gilbert Doolittle, St. Petersburg.

The two remaining enrollees are from Illinois, brought here from the Sixth Corps Area by Company Commander Captain Robert W. Bowles as specialist cook and mess sergeant.

California is represented by a solid front in the forest service supervisory and technical personnel at the camp. Of the eight men regularly employed in these capacities, all are Golden Staters, of long standing. Six of them own their homes in Nevada City.

Grass Valley Man Held In Jail Here

Ross Stillwell of Grass Valley, arrested for Nevada County authorities in Bakersfield on a charge of reckless driving, is held in the county jail here. Stillwell was removed to Nevada City by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen. The complaint was signed by George Ellsworth, who said Stillwell's car struck his milk delivery truck and the defendant refused to pay damages as agreed upon.

PROFESSOR FINDS HITLER DRYING UP GERMAN SCIENCE

BERKELEY, April 24.—"German efficiency up to the present is living in the legacy of an earlier period during which that nation, though not democratic in government of its people, nevertheless gave the world the academic ideal of freedom to teach and to learn."

This is statement of Dr. Joel Hildebrand, dean of the college of letters and science and professor of chemistry at the University of California. Dr. Hildebrand, one of America's foremost chemists, served as a chemist with the army in the world war.

"Today the sources of scientific knowledge in Germany have been partly dried up," Dr. Hildebrand says. "A large proportion of its best scientific men have either fled or been dismissed. The springs of fundamental science which feed applied science, technology, industry and national defense are now flowing more freely in England than in Germany and more freely still in America. They will nourish us in the eventual peace as they now provide us with the sinews of war.

"Science and democratic society are complementary. The freedom to seek the truth by the aid of science and to folow its lead is our great heritage. We must defend it. It is our ally, not Hitler's. Let us neither fear it nor doubt it.

"The scientific men and the students of science are not the ones who are today hanging back as the nation calls them to serve; they have seen the persecution of their German confreres."

"Now son," said the father, "do you know why I punished you?"

"That's a hot one. First you beat me and then you don't know why you did it."

Mrs. Holland resided in Nevada City forty years before moving to Sacramento and later to Los Angeles.

IT WONT BE LONG BEFORE MAY 1ST

Trout (excepting golden trout) season opens in California May 1 in all districts and Tuolumne and Mariposa counties in District 1 3-8; in the remaining area in District 1 3-8, 2 1-2, 23 and 25 trout fishing does not start until May 30.

Everyone over the age of 18 years will need a license to go trout fishing the California State Division of Fish and Game, urges that you get the required license now. To avoid the last minute rush, and perhaps disappointment because of inability to get a license, it advises that licenses be purchased prior to May 1. Agents have a good supply of fishing licenses on hand.

The cost of a resident citizen angling license is $2; non-resident, $3; and alien, $5. Those not yet 18 years of age may fish without a license.

SEE AMERICA
from border to border and coast to coast

$90 ROUND TRIP

Thousands of travelers will take time out this year to know America better. Thanks to the low "Grand Circle Tour" fares, you can see America from border to border and coast to coast for only $90 round trip in chair cars and coaches, or $135 round trip in standard Pullmans (plus $45 for a Pullman lower all the way, or $34.50 for an upper).

You can travel as many as 9,000 miles, and by going on one of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and returning on a different S. P. route, you'll see twice as much as you would going and returning the same way. For example, go to Chicago via the direct Overland Route—over the High Sierra, across Great Salt Lake and through the Rockies. Continue on to New York—direct or via Montreal. Add Boston and Portland, Maine, for no additional rail or Pullman fare.

Visit Washington, D. C. Then speed through Virginia and the Carolinas to storied New Orleans, returning home on the Sunset Route through Louisiana, Texas and Southern Arizona. Stopover in El Paso for the thrilling $9.75 all-expense tour to Carlsbad Caverns National Park. (You can also add a side trip to Mexico City for only $45 on "Grand Circle Tour" tickets.)

The trip described above is just one example of how you can use two of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes to see twice as much on a $90 or $135 ticket. (Fares slightly higher from points south of San Francisco via Pacific Northwest.)

Low Round Trip Fares to all Eastern Cities

In addition to the low "Grand Circle Tour" fares shown above, Southern Pacific also offers very low round trip fares to all eastern cities.

For Example: From Colfax	In chair cars and coaches	In tourist sleeping cars (berth extra)	In standard Pullmans (berth extra)
CHICAGO AND BACK	$65.00	$73.50	$89.10

You have a wide choice of fine, fast Southern Pacific trains, ranging from de luxe, extra fare streamliners to friendly economy trains featuring three good meals for $1.25 a day (breakfast 35c, luncheon 40c, dinner 50c).

JUST WONDERIN'

I Wonder at the deep dyed pessimist
Who never sees the stars shine through the clouds
I Wonder at the purblind optomist
Who veils cold facts in opalescent shrouds.
I Wonder if between the misled two
There lies a Golden Mean for you and me.

I Wonder which of the two is the more harmful at this time, the man who sees the world conflict in all its stark reality , faces its insane savagery and understanding its ominous implications, turns to the philosophy of defeatism, or the too. too confiding soul who refuses to face facts and goes about crying, "peace, peace," when there is no peace.

It is not easy to keep well balanced in this present evil world, but, if we can find the Golden Mean and walk therein we shall have accompliched something of genuine importance not only to ourselves, but for every misled soul with whom we come in contact. We should temper both pessimism and optomism with reason, look at the cold facts of world conflict as they are, retain our courage, confidence, mental equilibrium and cling tenaciously to the saving sense of humor. Can we do all this?

I Wonder if you have examined the last issue of the Argonaut. Just reading its name gives one a thrill and floods the mind with memories of many glamorous events of which it was a part. This last issue is a thing of beauty which every Californian will wish to preserve for future reference.

Envisioning its pictorial pages through the eyes of another. led me far afield and brought me again face to face with all the wonder and loveliness which is California.

Spring is in the land and California is at her best. She is calling from the snowy crests of the Sierra to her foam washed shores, from San Diego's silver gate to Mount Shasta standing guard over the Golden Empire she calls, and whether we travel far or simply stop where we are and look about us, California's charm and beauty await our admiration and contribute to our happiness.

Little Matusoka's taste in souvenirs is truly exotic. From his trip abroad he returned to Japan with a bulge in his knapsack which turned out to be a covenant with Moscow! Please excuse but I suggest not placing too much confidence in same, Great White Comrade, Stalin maybe so changing mind when Honorable Seed of Sun not looking. Oh, so sorry.

I Wonder if we shall all have some amusing experiences during Be Kind to Animals week. It will be a pleasant and eye opening week for us if we go forth among our dumb brothers with understanding discrimination. There are however, some animals that one just can't be friendly with.

Uncle Silas says: Mrs. Roosevelt says, 'we must all be calm and remember that we aare dealing with human beings.' Now I was perfectly calm until I heard that, but I almost gave up in despair when I learned we are dealing with human beings."

Birds Like Ready-Made Homes; Aid Ranger By Exterminating Insects

Forest Ranger Charles Beardsley's feathered allies in insect control have made their preliminary inspection of their summer homes at the Foresthill Ranger Station on the Tahoe National Forest.

Several years ago, when the shade trees that were planted on the recently landscaped station began to leaf out, Beardsley found a horde of insect enemies to be lying in wait and they promtly defoliated the trees. Seeking to restore a balance in nature Beardsley conceived a plan of installing attractive looking bird houses at various points about the grounds. The plan succeeded very well and, as a result, the shade trees furnish shade, the insects are kept to a reasonable population and the birds are happy.

A flock of barn swallows made no use of the ready made houses but appropriated the station water tank tower and each year construct their mud nests therein. Beardsley has not kept a check to see whether they come the same day each year like the famous Capistrano swallows,

FORMER CCC ENROLLEES MAKING GOOD IN UNITED STATES ARMY

Experience in the Civilian Conservation Corps is proving of value to former CCC enrollees now in the new army, according to letters being received by Project V. J. Wilson, at the Forest Hill CCC camp.

Wilson cites the following examples:

Joe Lira and Archie Hatman, enrollees at Forest Hill camp, were, for some time, in charge of mess at the Downieville Spike Camp composed of 40 men detached from Forest Hill. Lira did the cooking and Hatman had charge of the accounts, using the regular army mess forms. Instructions were that they were to feed good within the army allowance. They tackled the job with such interest and energy that the men in the camp had all they wanted to eat and a substantial saving was made each month.

Both enlisted in the 115th Engineers. Lira was sent to Monterey for schooling in cooking and after a weeks trial, was made an instructor. He would have remained as such but an irate company commander finally secured his return to his company where he was promptly made a sergeant. Hatman, upon his arrival at San Luis Obispo, was elected to attend a sergeants school at Fort McArthur. After ten days there, he was returned to his company with a rating of sergeant.

John Crone was rated as a leader at the time he enlisted and was sent to Camp Ord, and after two weeks there, was selected to go to school at San Diego for advancement to sergeant.

Wilson says that enrollees learn to live and work together, to take orders and give orders, develop resourcefulness, learn to respect the other fellow and realize the importance of looking after their own physical welfare. This stands them in good stead and gives them a good start over the average young fellow enlisting in the army, in Wilson's opinion. "I feel mighty proud of the record some of our boys are making," says Wilson, "and proud of the part I have been able to play in their development."

MARCH GAS TAX TOTAL $5,007,680

SACRAMENTO, April 24. — For the third time in the history of California's gasoline tax, the monthly income from this source exceeded the $5,000,000 mark during March, tne State Board of Equalization reported today.

Richard E. Collins, chairman of the board, announced that the taxable gallonage for the month amount to 166,922,679 on which the assessment amounted to $55,007,680.37.

This tax represented an increase of $391,740.33, or 8.49 per cent over the same month of the previous year. At the same time it was substantially higher than the $4,314,816-.38 collected for the month of February, 1941.

Board records show that the income from the gasoline tax for the first quarter of 1941 exceeded the same period of the previous year by more than one million dollars.

STANFORD HEAD OPPOSES CUT IN HEALTH BUDGET

"The proposed cut in the budget of the State Department of Public Health of $93,266 for the biennium seems decidedly unwise at the present time," stated Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the American Social Hygiene Association, in commenting on the action of the State Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Dr. Wilbur continued: "Even at the present time, large scale mobilizations in military and industrial centers are causing serious drains on under-staffed and under-financed health agencies, and this condition is bound to grow more serious during the coming year.

"Most unwise and even dangerous is the proposed cut in the budget for the control of venereal disease of approximately $40,000 for the biennium. I am confident the members of the Assembly Committee could not have realized the seriousness of the action when they made this cut. This will mean that the present inadequate appropriation of $100,000 a year for this vital work will be cut to $80,000; that 1000 fewer persons can be treated for syphilis and that these 1000 persons will be added to the others spreading the disease throughout the state"

Dr. Wilbur pointed out that the battle against syphilis was being won in California, that new infections had declined 43 per cent in the past four years, but that large scale military and industrial concentrations of manpower were now developing in many parts of the state. These he stated, had greatly increased the work of health officials in controlling venereal disease, and increases in both syphilis and gonorrhea had been reported in the last few months.

Star Lost For Many Years Finally Found

In 1905 George Calanan, then foreman of the local volunteer fire department, was quite a hand at handling the horse drawn fire engine.

He whipped around sharp turns in grand style. Herman Brand, a pioneer of this city and at one time a member of the city council, designed and made a star for Calanan, which was presented to him in an appropriate manner. The star, cut, it appears, by tinsnips from an oil can, recognized Calanan's skill in "Driving Tom."

Well, anyway, the star vanished in later years. The other day Gove Celio, in going over some of the effects of his father, William Celio, who died recently, found the star.

Again the star was presented to Calanan and it now reposes on the latter's desk in the city hall.

Be as careful of the books you read, as of the company you keep; for your habits and character will be as much influenced by the former as by the latter. —Paxton Hood

BRITISH PILOT WRITES MOTHER BEFORE DEATH

Editor's note—The following letter, written to an English mother by her son for delivery to her following his death in the line of duty, was given this newspaper for publication by Dr. Robert A. Peers.

"Dearest Mother:

"Though I feel no premonition at all, events are moving rapidly and I have instructed that this letter be forwarded to you should I fail to return from one of the raids which we shall shortly be called upon to undertake. You must hope on for a month, but, at the end of that time, you must accept the fact that I have handled my task over to extremely capable hands of my comrades of the Royal Air Force, as so many splendid fellows have already done.

"First, it will comfort yon to know that my role in this war has been of the greatest importance. Our patrol far out over the North Sea have helped to keep the trade routes clear for our convoys and supply ships, and on one occasion our information was instrumental in saving the lives of the men in a crippled lighthouse relief ship. Though it will be difficult for you, you will disappoint me if you do not at least try to accept the facts dispassionately, for I shall have done my duty to the utmost of my ability. No man can do more, and no one calling himself a man could do less.

"I have always admired your amazing courage in the face of continued setbacks; in the way you have given me as good an education and background as anyone in the country; and always kept up appearances without ever losing faith in the future. My death would not mean that your struggle has been in vain. Far from it. It means that your sacrifice is as great as mine. Those who serve England must expect nothing from her; we debase ourselves if we regard our country as merely a place in which to eat and sleep.

"History resounds with illustrious names who have given all, yet their sacrifice has resulted in the British Empire, where there is a measure of peace, justice and freedom for all, and where a higher standard of civilization has evolved, and is still evolving, than anywhere else. But this is not only concerning our own land. Today we are faced with the greatest organized challenge to Christianity and civilization that the world has ever seen, and I count myself lucky and honoured to be the right age and fully trained to throw my full weight into the scale. For this I have to thank you. Yet there is more work for you to do. The home front will still have to stand united for years after the war is won. For all that can be said against it, I still maintain that this war is a very good thing; every individual is having the chance to give and dare all for his principle like the martyrs of old. However long time may be, one thing can never be altered—I shall have lived and died an Englishman. Nothing else matters one jot, nor can anything ever change it.

"You must not grieve for me for, if you really believe in religion and all that it entails, that would be hypocrisy. I have no fear of death; only a queer elation. I would have it no other way. The universe is so vast and so ageless that the life of one man can only be justified by the measure of his sacrifice. We are sent to this world to acquire a personality and a character to take with us and that can never be taken from us. Those who just eat and sleep, prosper and procreate, are no better than animals if all their lives they are at peace.

"I firmly and absolutely believe that evil things are sent into the world to try us; they are sent deliberately by our Creator to test our mettle because He knows what is good for us. The Bible is full of cases where the easy way out has been discarded for moral principles.

"I count myself fortunate in that I have seen the whole country and have known men of every calling. But with the final test of war, I consider my character fully developed. Thus at my early age my earthly mission is already fufilled and I am prepared to die with just one regret, and one only—that I could not devote myself to making your declining years more happy by being with you; but you will live in peace and freedom and I shall have directly contributed to that, so here again my life will not have been in vain.

"Your loving son,"

THIS WEEK in DEFENSE

OPM Director General Knudsen said the nation is about 70 per cent retooled for defense and there should be "clear sailing" ahead. OPM Production Director Riggers said mass production will begin in 100 days.

Labor Wages

Labor Department announced average earnings in manufacturing industries have risen to new levels—69.2 cents per hour or $28.56 a week—because of increased overtime payments, increased employment in defense industries and wage increases. Average hours for each worker per week have advanced to forty, with many defense employees working 50 hours per week, the department said.

Department of Agriculture reported expansion in industrial employment, together with military conscription, had raised average farm wages to $1.70 per day, without board—highest level since 1931. Lowest wages was reported in Georgia and South Carilona—less than $1.00 per day. The highest—$3.13—was reported in Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Army and Navy

War and Navy Departments announced a total of 1,504,759 men in active service: Navy—242,654; Marines—51,505; Army—1, 210,600.

The War Department announced seniors in accredited medical schools would be given an opportunity to obtain commissions as first lieutenants in the Medical Corps Reserve. The Department also announced that 2,300 enlisted men would be trained each month for reserve officers' commissions.

The Navy, expecting to bring its strength to 532,000 men by 1947, announced recruiting in special ratings by the Naval Reserve of qualified cable company employees, seamen, firemen, signalmen, radiomen, machinist mates, aviation mechanics and electricians.

Air Raid Spotters

War department announced plans to enroll between 500,000 and 600,000 civilian volunteers to cooperate with the army in a nation wide network to warn against air attack. Groups such as the American Legion, its women's auxiliaries, the Coast Guard, forest fire wardens, weather observers, and the CCC, will be included in the network, the department said.

Selective Service

Selective Service Headquarters announced a program calling for education of registrants regarding the physical standards of the army and the correction of defects by local dentists and physicians before the registrants are called to service. The program will be guided by the SS Medical Advisory Council and an appropriate committee in each state.

Headquarters also announced that all information concerning registrants, except that which the regulations specifically define as confidential, is a matter of public record open to anyone making a legitimate inquiry.

Agriculture

The Department of Agriculture urged farmers to increase egg production during the next fifteen months by about 6 per cent and announced a program for increasing tomato production for canning by 50 per cent. Both moves, the department said, are to assure ample food supplies for the U. S. and Great Britain, to meet probable demands under the Lease Lend Act, and for distribution by the Red Cross, for school lunches, and relief.

AUTOS TO PROPELLERS

Ahuge inland factory which once produced one of America's best known motor cars will soon hum again with the production of airplane propellers as a part of the national defense program. The plant is that of the old Marmon Automobile Co. at Indianapolis, leased by the Curtiss Propeller Division of the Curtiss-Wright Corp.

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.★

WOULDN'T a sprinter or a long-distance runner look silly trying to race with a clothespin firmly clamped on his nose!

Yet, in a sense, something fairly close to that happens in nearly every car that lacks Buick's sensational Compound Carburetion.†

For your engine has to breathe in huge quantities of air to be mixed with gasoline before it is burned in the cylinders.

But single-carburetor fuel supply systems can handle only a given volume of air.

To that extent, then, an ordinary engine has a clothespin on its nose – a limitation on air supply for big power operation.

We remove that clothespin very simply – by having two carburetors; one that handles all casual driving smoothly and efficiently, another to jump in with more air and more fuel when you call for extra power by stepping on the gas treadle!

Simple? Very simple indeed.

And simply marvelous in the extra FIREBALL wallop it gives you and in the gas savings you get – as much as 10% to 15% over previous Buicks with the same-size engines.

Maybe you'd better go see your Buick dealer now.

'STRAWBERRY BLONDE' OPENS HERE SUNDAY

A film with a warm, human story starring James Cagney and Olivia de-Havilland called "The Strawberry Blonde" will make its local debut at the Nevada Theatre this Sunday evening. Cagney is cast as a simple fellow who doesn't go around socking people (in fact, he finds out what it means to be on the receiving end of a right hook for a change), who doesn't bowl over the girl with his glib charm and who doesn't want to blast his way to the top of anything. All he would like to do is become a darn good dentist. It is a different Cagney—a new Cagney—a Cagney that will win millions of new admirers.

Vivacious Olivia and sparkling Rita Hayworth are the two women in Cagneys uncomplicated life, (that is uncomplicated until they come into it). He falls in love with Rita but marries Olivia on the rebound when Rita runs off with the local boy who made good played by Jack Carson. After many years of happily married life, Cagney realizes he married the right woman after all because Rita turns out to be a querulous, complaining woman, who makes life miserable for her husband despite his wealth.

PEOPLE MAY VOTE ON STATE MANAGER BILL

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—Senator Jerrold L. Seawell's proposal to create the position of State Manager as means of effecting increased efficiency and economy has received a "do pass" recommendation from the senate governmental efficiency committee.

The proposition is submitted as a constitutional amendment to be placed before the voters of the state on the 1942 election ballot. To come before the voters the proposed amendment must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the senate and the assembly.

Senator Seawell's proposal is that the "State Manager shall exercise such powers and duties in connection with the administrative offices, branches and instrumentalities of the executive department of the state government as the legislature may deem to be in the interest of efficiency and economy."

It is provided that the manager would be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate from a list of five names submitted by the Attorney General, the State Controller, two persons chosen by the legislature and one by the governor. The manager could be removed from office by adoption of a concurrent resolution of the senate and assembly.

The exact duties of the manager would be set forth by an act adopted by the legislature after the amendment had been approved by the people. Proponents of the plan have stated duties now performed by the finance department would be delegated to the manager, citing that this would take state finances out of politics. In this connection they pointed out that the director of finance is an oppointee of the governor and that there have been three directors during the present administration.

Senators who have declared that they favor Senator Seawell's plan include Harr L. Parkman of San Mateo and Edward H. Tickle of Carmel. Senators who voted the committee's recommendation of the plan were Parkman, Harry J. Pokers of Eagleville, William P. Rich of Marysville, Charles H. Deuel of Chico and Ralph Swing of San Bernardino.
